

WE NOMINATE

Halcyone Harger (Mrs. Frederick M.) Bohlen, the first woman dean in the 223-year history of Princeton College and the mother of three young daughters, who is playing a key role in what might be termed "The Quiet Revolution" — described by one observer as the "take-over" of the Ivy League by a determined, immensely able female minority. While Mrs. Bohlen, 51 years old, as an Assistant Dean of Students is involved in all of the operations of the Office of the Dean of Students, she is essentially Princeton's "Dean of Women," concerned with the well-being of some 170 women undergraduates, (about 100 freshmen, some 50 transfer students from all parts of the country and 20 enrolled in the 7-year old Critical Languages Program).

In the opening fortnight of Princeton's "Year of the Women," Mrs. Bohlen, a native of Chicago and a graduate of New Jersey's Ridgewood High School, has performed admirably and with "a sense for the cool" seldom associated with the practitioners of educational administration. As Old Nassau's pioneering female undergraduates, and their often distraught, bag-toting parents, descended upon 57-year old Pyne Hall, Mrs. Bohlen moved from group to group, answering often-difficult questions, assuaging parental worries and still parrying the queries of this nation's last group of "Dictators," the cameramen of the Fourth Estate.

A cum laude graduate of Smith College with the Class of 1959, Dean Bohlen received her Master of Arts in Teaching in the field of social studies from Radcliffe College and subsequently taught history in high schools in Brookline, Mass., and Norfolk, Va. She first came to Princeton in 1962 when her husband, a Harvard product, entered the Woodrow Wilson

School of Public and International Affairs. An Assistant Dean of the Woodrow Wilson School when he left here in 1966, Mr. Bohlen, following service with The White House staff and the Public Broadcast Laboratory, is the newly named Assistant to the President of The Ford Foundation.

While in Princeton initially, first as a graduate-student wife and then as the wife of a University administrator, the ever-energetic Mrs. Bohlen was associated with the Social Studies Section of the Educational Testing Service where she wrote history, government and social studies questions for the College Entrance Examination Board and other examinations developed by ETS. She was also editor of the weekly column, "The Project Forum," in The Princeton Packet and served as President of the community's Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School.

In the intervening several years before returning to Princeton, and the home they now occupy on Fitz Randolph Road, Dean Bohlen taught in such diverse programs as the New York School for the Nursery Years, an after-school recreation program for children in the arts in Washington, D.C., and in the six-session seminar in urban problems for 19-year old rookie policemen in the 24th Precinct of New York City's Police Department. Her background also includes a year as Secretary of the Science and Public Policy Seminar in Harvard's Littauer School of Public Administration.

For her contributions to the "critical and important undertaking of moving ahead with the education of women; for sensing that time is "of the essence" in coping with problems a 221-year old men's institution might not anticipate; for looking ever forward; she is our nominee as

School Referendum Debated Prior to Vote

This Is Princeton

An audience of about 30 persons scattered through the Community Park School all-purpose room Tuesday night to hear the Board of Education present its case for a "yes" vote next Tuesday in the public referendum on acquisition of Snowden Lane acreage for a possible future school.

Most of the audience opposed the $226,000 land purchase and hoped about two and a half hours saying so. Hours and polling places for the referendum are in the box on page 2 of this issue at TOWN TOPICS. The Board states its reasons for a "yes" vote in an ad on page 3. A citizens group urging a "no" vote presents its reasons in an ad on page 37.

The board's case:

- The $226,000 referendum is only for purchase of the land on Snowden Lane. No new elementary school is planned there at this time. The board regards acquisition of the land as a prudent way to "plan ahead" five to 20 years, for the school the board believes may be needed there as the town grows.
- The site is in an area already designated as a good one for a possible future school on the Township's Master Plan map. (See above). The area was so marked about two years ago after conferences among school officials; the Township's Master Plan consultants, Kendra and Shepherd; and board members.

- Land use can change suddenly: since mid-summer, a project for 200 families has been proposed by Princeton Community Housing for a site relatively close to the Snowden Lane land; 90 "town houses" may be built on the corner of Harrison and Ham.
- The plan for the Borough for a total of 390 possible new families.
- Land costs are rising. Two years ago, the Township paid $5,000 an acre for Open Space land adjoining the school site. The price offered to the owner of the school site the appraised market value is $6,300.

- The board proposes a 19-year bond at 6.3% interest ($19,000 a year, principal and interest, meaning $3 more per year in taxes for a $10,000 home.)

The case against the referendum:

The fullest opposition argument Tuesday night was made by T.B. Fisher, 342 Snowden Lane. His wife and sister-in-law own the larger of the two parcels included in the $226,000 purchase.

- There is little reason to plan a new school in the area because there isn't much on developed land left for people to build new houses on, and this land is mostly in the one and one-half acre zone, Hermitage Woods. All Saints Chapel and the sewer field limit the number of houses that can be built in the area.
- Princeton Community Housing's plans for 200 units of middle income apartments are "exceedingly nebulous," not financed, and in an area where they will require a variance.
- It would be better to plan for a new elementary school on the western side of the "barrier" created by the Research Zone; that is, west of the Mt. Lucas Route 206 area.

- The actual cost of the land will be $361,000, not $226,000, when the 19 years of interest and principal payments is considered.
- Because of the topography, it would be difficult to sewer the property, and the cost of sewer, sidewalks, utilities and so on, isn't included in the purchase price. (Mrs. George Frenon and Dr. Kathryn of the board observed that any site would require utilities.)

Others in the audience amplified Mr. Fisher's thesis. Most objected to the board's lack of concrete population projection figures.

"Any school projection by five years is always suspect, and we're using gross projections here," conceded Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

Edwin Hutter, Van Dyke Road, said the board was paying too much attention to the number of children in the area now and not enough to where the children of the future might be.

Population Map Used. Board member William Marvel, whose toll of the evening was a quiet Princeton map showing each school child as a pin, swept his hand over the relatively pin-less northwest section of the Township and told the audience that this was not only an area of larger lots but also an area where many of the people sent their children to private schools.

He added that Johnson Park School, in the west-central section of the Township, could be enlarged to accommodate any increase in this part of the Township.

Replying to people who asked why not buy land in the north and southwest—where the Planning Board has also marked school sites—Mr. Marvel said simply that the Snowden parcel was up for sale. Other parcels aren't.

Howard Fox, 140 Hunt Drive, asked about the school board's debt limit. Counsel Thomas Cook replied that state law allows a debt limit amounting to 1% of the assessed valuation. One hundred million dollars for the Borough and $151 million for the Township for a $257 million total, gave the Township district about a $10 million limit, he said.

The district's present debt is $1,465,000, of which about half a million is retired each year, according to William Evans, board secretary. He added that rateables continue to grow.

Limit is Elastic. "Won't a new high school and the expansion of Johnson Park and acquisition of this land violate that limit?" Mr. Fox asked. Dr. McPherson said most New Jersey communities are at or over their limit (a state dispensation can be obtained if a district spills over the top) and that Princeton was unusual in the amount of its margin.

Board member Mrs. Kathryn Edwards asked if the bonds could be recalled and the money used elsewhere, if the board sells the land sometime in the future. Mr. Cook said not many bonds are callable.

The board's attorney also told the audience that the board could legally sell the land, if it weren't needed for a school. Board member Dr. Harvey Rothberg referred to the former Borough Board of Education's sale of the old Quarry Street school for $100,000.

Theodore Kane, Princeton Kingston Road, questioned the board's timing. "We're at an all-time high in municipal bond rates," he said. "If you wait, rates may go up, and as far as the taxpayer is concerned, he may not be paying any more in the future than he would today."

Winthrop Pike, board member, explained that the board doesn't have to go into the bond market immediately, just because the referendum may pass. "We can, by law, use short term financing for as long as five years," he explained.

"Lack of Communication." The Rev. Edm. H. Rian, who lives at 404 Snowden, almost across from the site, asked for withdrawal of the referendum, charging the board with inadequate planning and failure to communicate with the town.

He described his own extensive background in the education field, and challenged the board to think more about education, and to produce a 10-year master plan detailing curriculum, population projections, staff requirements, future buildings and so on.

Dates and Places for Next Tuesday's Referendum

The Friends of Public Education in Princeton have planned coffee-discussion meetings in four areas of the community so residents of Princeton can ask questions about the September 23 referendum on purchase of land for a possible future school.

At each coffee, board of education members will answer questions. All residents are welcome to any of the gatherings, regardless of geographical area. Times and hostesses are:

This Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. — Mrs. Howard Fox, 140 Hunt Drive.

This Thursday, 1 p.m. — Mrs. David Loye, 38 Hawthorne Avenue.

This Thursday, 8:15 p.m. — Mrs. Martin Gilwood, 33 Beechwood.

This Friday, 10 a.m. — Mrs. George Bauer, 32 Balsam Lane.

Polis will be open from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, September 23.

In the Borough:
Districts 1 and 8 — Borough Hall.
Districts 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9 — Princeton High School.

In the Township:
Districts 1, 4, 7 — Community Park School.
Districts 2, 8 — Johnson Park School.
Districts 5, 6, 10 — Littlebrook School.
Districts 3, 9 — Riverside School.

Mimeograph it and mail it to everyone in town," he said.

Mrs. Fremont said, "That's exactly what the Wednesday program is for to think more about education." And she invited the Rev. Mr. Rian to come around any Wednesday.

AWARENESS ESSENTIAL

President Goheen Declares, "If Princeton can help you to become thoughtful men and women, responsive to the world's needs, but yet wise enough to distrust pit answers, slogans and appeals to passion, she will have served you well." Princeton University President Robert F. Goheen told incoming freshmen on Sunday. He spoke at the opening exercises in University Chapel, marking Princeton's 224th year.

Mentioning such uncertainties of modern life as the threat of nuclear destruction and overpopulation, and such problems as international unrest, poverty, racial stress, environmental pollution, and the like, Dr. Goheen urged the students to take the "broad opportunity to become informed, to probe, to analyze and to mult over some of these complex questions."

"You have this time not to reach quick, wholly buttoned-up solutions — for they are so spurious — but to extend your awareness beyond the immediacies of your own time and place, to be concerned with truth and human dignity in a thoroughly honest way, and to develop that precious possession, the habit of learning and reflection," he continued.

He characterized the modern university as intensely concerned with the problems in society.

"Men in universities do not need to be told that society is imperfectly organized, that in justice and misery abound in the world, that today the United States is enmeshed in a futile, tragic conflict on the other side of the globe, that our military establishment is excessively large. . . . It is the university's business to be a place where men can ask searching questions about such matters and seek reasoned, principled solutions."

A Combination of Causes. He observed that some malignant viruses do infect the blood stream of our national life, but they are not the whole organism. He said that the nation's troubles are not caused by a conspiracy of villains but are due to a "veiling, tangled combination of causes — economic, political, sociological and ethical — all with deep historical roots."

Dr. Goheen urged the students to study today's problems in all their complexity regarding their relevance in the broad terms of degree, time scale and purpose.

He asked that they weigh the relevances of Aeschylus.

Principles, Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, T. S. Eliot and Reiss hold Niebuhr against today's Marcuse, Ginsburg and Cleaver.

"Each clearly merits very serious attention, but not just because he is topical! Content porantly alone is a frail and fleeting criterion."

He told the students that the university welcomes their interest in curriculum development. He said that the university's "continuing search for order and understanding" is far more than an academic exercise.

There are many interpretations of the term "humanism," but we may surely agree that concern for humanity must be woven into the fabric of our lives and work in the university.

TOPICS Of The Town

DRUGS TO BE STUDIED
At Meeting Next Week. "We hope people will give us some ideas we haven't thought of ourselves," said Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson as he joined Township Mayor John D. Wallace in urging the whole town to turn out next Thursday, September 25, for an open-ended meeting on drugs.

The meeting, sponsored by Borough Council and Township Committee and the two mayors, will be held at 8 p.m. in John Witherspoon School on Walnut Lane.

Mayor Wallace underscored "everyone" in his invitation. He expressed the hope that young people in particular would attend the meeting and give adults the benefit of their own ideas and experience.

One idea that has come from many sources, is a Youth Commission which could bring together all the different agencies and groups and organizations that are trying to work with kids and drugs, in the hope of a unified approach.

This Commission, formed of people who have no particular vested interests, would probably bring together police, schools, such agencies as Family Service or Child Guidance, clergymen and so on.

Federal Aid Possible. Another suggestion grows out of a bill now before Congress (HR 9312) and under consideration by the House Committee on Education and Labor. This measure would provide money to communities that develop model programs in drug abuse education.

A group like the proposed Youth Commission, it has been suggested, might be the body from which to develop such a program for Princeton.

Mayor Patterson doesn't think people in Princeton appreciate that public and private agencies are excruciatingly aware of the problem and active in trying to solve it.

"People don't realize the education work police have been doing in the schools," he says, "and parents don't realize that in many cases it's the adults who need the education. Kids know more about drugs than their parents do!"

Mayor Patterson warns that the problem is multi-faceted. "No two probation officers agree on what should be done. No two cases are alike: one kid may need close watching, another should be allowed to be more free. Some kids come from broken homes, some don't."

He also points out that police have problems, chiefly because they have hearsay evidence, but not enough real evidence "to make it stick."

"And throwing a kid in jail won't do anything but make a hardened criminal out of him."

The mayor then quotes Township Committeeman James A. Floyd, whose idea the meeting is. "If only one kid is picked up for using heroin — we have a problem."

GROUP PROTESTS AGAIN. On Community Housing. The skirmish over Princeton Community Housing's proposed middle-income apartments on Witherspoon - Spring Streets continues this week.

In the current installment, the opposition Princeton Borough Residents Committee released a letter written by the Committee's chairman, Lowell Curran, to Paul Yivisaker, chairman of the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency, asking again to have additional "seed money" withheld from Princeton Community Housing.

(The state's contract for the second installment of "seed money" has already been received by PCH, according to PCH President Theodore Vial.)

Mr. Curran cites section 36(b) of the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency law, which says that "no such advance shall be made unless it is reasonably anticipated by the agency that an eligible mortgage will be obtained for the housing project."

Roger Jellenik, chief of operations for the Housing Finance Agency, points out that Mr. Curran's citation refers to the Housing Finance Agency

"G" Films Are Weak At Princeton Box Offices

Theatre Manager Richard Knight looked at his Playhouse and Garden records this week and reported that the general audience films ("G") only do well in the afternoon.

The matinee audience is largely made up of children, hence escorting mothers and little old ladies.

"We haven't run an 'X' picture so far," he said. "But Medium Cool is booked. We decided that its good point outweighed the poor ones. This X rating means that you under age 16 are not admitted."

"The Princeton adult audience seems more or less to steer clear of the G rated film," Mr. Knight comments. "I would explain it that people get all the G material they want on television. The movies after something else."

"G" Tops to Nation. Nationally, the G rated films led at the box office, the Motion Picture Herald, a film exhibitors' trade publication, said this week. As reported by Richard Gertner, the single X film in the 16 top grossers is "Midnight Cowboy." (Seven were rated G; five were M; three were R's and one, X).

The strongest box office films in the G rating across the nation are "The Love Bug," "If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium," "Popi," "True Grit," "Kirkatona—East of Java," "Oliver" and "Peter Pan."

In Princeton, however, "True Grit" did well. Mr. Knight says, although it should have an M rating. ("M" mature audiences, parental discretion advised).

"Love Bug" did poorly. This might be explained by the fact that it played in the area before it came here. Princeton usually likes the Disney films. Tuesday did pretty well. It played for two weeks.

"And 'Popi,' which should be an M rated film, did very well." The last four G film did not play in Princeton.

"M" and "R" Do Well. Princeton box offices pick up "M" and "R" films. Whereas "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" drew only a moderate response, and "Shogun of the Fisherman" did poorly, "Last Summer" (R) now has view at the Garden is drawing well.

It sometimes reaches the point where the ratings and Princeton response go their separate ways. "April Fools" (M) did very well. "Whatever Happened to Aunt Alice?" (M) flunked out. "The Wild Bunch" (R) very nearly did.

"Mackenna's Gold," also an M rated picture and right up there in the two grossers, drew a medium response here.

If you go back earlier in the year, "Goodbye, Columbus" (R) spent five weeks in the top grossers. And this week, the controversial "If" comes to the Playhouse.

The Princeton theatres will go back to Saturday matinees for the children, Mr. Knight believes, fairly soon. "When you're backing fine weather, you're really backing some thing."

GENERAL AUDIENCES: Princeton students make a difference at the box office. Richard Knight, manager of the Playhouse, comments, "But I don't think they would help the G pictures one iota."

He believes the ratings influence attendance here. "People call up all the time and ask

"The point of view at the Princeton Theatre is that ratings don't count. 'People don't buy ratings,' they buy quality."

Steve Marrs of the Bruck Theatres chain maintains. With a successful three-week showing of "Last Summer" (rated R) the Prince played "3 Into 2 Won't Go" (R) on a one week booking and brings in "If" (R) this week.

"The Best Drawing Card." "Word of mouth means more than the ratings," Mr. Marrs continues. "The X's and R's get the greatest amount of publicity, it's true. Because of the publicity on the film of a film, people will come to see it and see for themselves what it is all about. 'Inga' (X) was great opening day. But word of mouth was bad. The people didn't like it."

"But a film like 'True Grit' (rated M) has done a sensational business. The Love Bug" (G) is just fantastic! It's strictly the quality of the picture. If a hundred people see it the first night and each tells a few others, you have a thousand people coming in."

"This is what happened with 'Romeo and Juliet' (G). It started slowly, and we brought it back three or four months later. A picture starts dying, too, by word of mouth, even though the critics praise it."

"The area has something to do with the success of a film, more than the rating. Here, Elvis Presley won't sell, but go down South and he's big."

Tastes Change. Mr. Marrs believes it takes a fantastically good movie to gross, to outdo television. It takes more, he says, to satisfy the movie-goer than it did 20 years ago when they enjoyed Laurel and Hardy.

"This is why the producers are coming out with more X and R pictures. They are trying to beat TV, which produces most of its own films. Have you seen

IT'S NEW

To Us

"LET'S WALK INSTEAD"

Richard's New Shop. So many girls and women have wandered into Richard's men's shoe store on Nassau Street that a department for the ladies has been opened right next door.

It opened about six weeks ago — with champagne and an intriguing variety of the kind of austere simple footwear that shows off good leather to its greatest advantage.

"The finest calfskin you can buy," according to Dick Lanahan and his partner, Arthur Riccio. "To take care of it, all you really need is saddle soap."

The first thing that meets your eye as you go in is an array of boots. "We have probably the most diverse selection of ladies' boots in the east," Mr. Lanahan comments. "Forty styles — I just counted them — and that includes many apes, skis and pants boots."

Richard's has the famous Brevitt shoes from England, Bally and Miss Bally from Switzerland, Charles Horrell of England, the Italian Capozio's, Patuno's and Amali's, and many others.

The hottest thing in shoes today is the Olot. Daughters' kicky wooden sole shoes, due in any time now, with Richard's waiting impatiently. "They are the kickiest young things in the industry today," Dick Lanahan says.

Made with a heavy wooden sole, suede or leather tops and an open heel, the clogs are chic and kind to your feet at the same time. There's a rubber sole under the wood for soundless walking. Made in Sweden; three styles and seven colors available.

Richard's has the jodhpur boot with the back strap and its variation which is cut a little higher with a short side zip and a cross strap. Both types are imported, and the leather is truly beautiful.

Men's "george" boots, cut ankle high with a monk strap over the arch, come in a feminine version to wear with your plaid pants. Capozio's suede knee-high boot is a must for your moi.

The tall boots (to your knees) sometimes blend suede and calf in the brown shades; or there's black with a cane au lait cuff; or grey with an equestrian's black side stripe and cross strap. A few are cut higher in the front, dragon-style, others combine calfskin fronts and calf hair backs.

The boots zip for tight fit, and they're weatherwise. Prices range from $27.50 to about $50.

Among the shoes, if you can tear yourself away from the boots, are some eminently wearable walking shoes, surprisingly light in weight. The Ballys are elegantly simple, and include the new four-eyelet shoe with the wing tip toe.

The Ballys range from low to medium stacked heel to a very steep pump that cries for a textured wool dress. The leather, again is beautiful.

The Miss Ballys are young in mood — plum with black; tan with patent leather trim. Some are cut with a high vamp over the arch; others are low, accented by toe straps and metal touches.

We thought the Patino line was very youthful — bow fronts and scrolls. And the Capozios are very feminine, using kid-skin as often as calf. These are on the dressy side, well made and come in all colors to choose from.

Richard's has the British Brevitts. The two-eyelet walking shoe and the monks straps are fantastic golf shoes. The Richard shoes start at $16.95 for the Lady Bostonian loafers and at $18 for the rest.

Boutique items include some interesting accessories, such as fascinating fringed ponchos in colored suede, leather vests and tunics, and A-line leather skirts in all colors. These are on view at the shop, and the single supply is expected in Oct. ber.

MERRY MITES

And Gay Sprites. The art of dressing a child is a subtle one. It is all too easy to overwhelm their beautiful, fresh faces with wild prints, strong stripes, busy design — actually drawing your attention away from the child's expressive face.

Occasionally, you come across designers who work hard to capture and enhance this child's charm — and you'll find this at the Village's new shop, "Merry Mites — Gay Sprites" at 20 Nassau Street.

The shop, too, has not only an interest in the small fry, but a special department, S.W.A.K., for that long-neglected size 10-14 girl who's yearning to dress like her big sister but isn't quite ready for it.

S.W.A.K. is nestled in the rear of the shop, up a half-flight of stairs. It's decorated in the mood to today: flickering lights, bright colors, swinging racks, beaded porlieres around the dressing stalls. Most of the clothes are Piccolinos, a division of Italy's Gino Paoli. Skirts are about $9 up; the tops are $6 up.

The theme is pick what you like, with an elegance of choice, mixing, matching, but never clashing. A two-piece knit stitched in a flat cable, can be made up of a short skirt and a vest top, or a short-sleeved top that buttons at the shoulder. It comes in camel, heather blue, or red.

If there's a fabric you adore, it comes in pants, skirt, vest, shorts or maybe jumper. Perhaps the most adorable tunic is the one that is just a matter of crossed straps in the back, held by a leather piece at the waist, then flaring away.

You may like the saddle brown corduroy skirt, with brown leather accents on the two side-front openings at the waist. Or prefer the jumper version — o r the slacks.

The whole idea is that a girl — Continued On Page 9

Dear Princeton Residents:

We offer a service for making your home and surroundings more comfortable and reflective of your individual personality. Social and environmental studies of the complex world in which we live have indicated that man must have the kind of immediate, private surroundings to which he can respond. No longer is a beautiful building meaningful unless the interior space is both livable and workable, functional and attractive, and meets the aesthetic and physical needs of the occupants.

Classically, interiors were always designed by architects, but as new technological requirements forced the architect to specialize, and therefore to forfeit, in part, his right to complete projects, there arose new areas of architectural design — interior design and space planning. This is the profession that has an immediate involvement with people and possesses the necessary skills and artistic knowledge to interpret and execute individual or family preferences in all aspects of interior design. This is the service which we are pleased to offer, — whether it is a bachelor apartment or a large family residence which needs our professional attention. Your personality and family needs are our most important consideration.

We are available for consultation . . . why not give us a call?

Auditions Scheduled

Theatre Intime will hold auditions for Saturday, Sunday and Monday for its late October production of Joe Orton's "Loot."

There will be open casting for all roles — live men and one woman — and a graduate would prepare a short scene preferably from a modern play, as part of their audition.

Auditions will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. and Sunday and Monday at 3:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre, on the University campus. The show will be given October 23, 24, 25 and 26, 31.

Additional information may be obtained from Andrew Krieger, 452-2308, or 452-8181.

a day, starting next Monday, in Salem, Connecticut and Gloucester, Atlantic and Cape May counties. Project Spotlight, a program financed by Title II Federal funds, is the sponsor.

"The Thawing of Baron Bollgrew" by Robert Bell, is the play. An adventure story about knights gallant and dragons hold (they reversed the adjectives in those days), "Baron Bollgrew" even has a fire-breathing villain, which is probably why they're taking along that technician.

The play was performed in London by the Royal Shakespeare Company four years ago, and has been seen by tens of thousands of English school children.

Actors — all male — will wear dramatic and colorful masks, and will perform against a background of original music described by its composer as "Dixieland Medley."

McCarter has taken theatre to the kids before, but something new will be on the program this year: honor students (study hard, kids!) will get to meet the actors personally, and ask them questions about the theatre and the acting profession.

Bill Hookins, who played many Intime leads last year, will be The Professor. Rosi Schwarz will be The Girl and Marie Miller, The Maid. Both have appeared in previous Intime productions.

Larry Strichman, Intime's executive director, will direct.

can make several different outfits out of a few purchases. The tops are short-sleeved, or mock turtle necks, some in solid colors others in stripe prints. And cotton and no-care, or knit stretch nylon, and no care.

Storm enacts with the wet look come belted, with pleat lining and accents of fake persian lamb. Just wipe them clean, the fabric is "Leath R Plus," a new material that is not a vinyl.

There are some very attractive dresses, particularly the knits, and typical girl-world accessories in sweaters, bags, scarves, chains and leather belts. S.W.A.K. also carries girls' lingerie, as well as knee socks, panty hose and tights. The latter come ribbed, cable knit, patterned, patchwork, argyle and opaque!

Small toys clothes at Merry Mite — Gay Sprite are all lines, action geared and fun. There are many brother-sister outfits, with the Picoelino knits particularly adorable. They can be hand washed.

For boys, see the "Merry all," a coverall that comes in green corduroy, for instance, a double-breasted button top above the zipper.

The sister outfit is a jumper, with matching double lines of buttons.

The bulky knit sweaters are different, some with an all-er design, others with deep shoulder trim. There are V-necks for the boys.

The boys' overalls have interesting materials — a corduroy that looks like wool, in crossbars of grey, rust and blue; or vertical stripes of blue, tan and white; or bonded knits in red and navy blue stripes. There are coordinate shirts.

There's even a holiday "Short-all" in brown velvet. U-neck for the boys, to be combined with a ruffled blouse. There's a girls' version too.

Among the little girls' things, we were enchanted with a tiny vest that slips on over the head and buttons high under the arm, hanging open the rest of the way. In red with a reversible side of blue, or in two shades of red. To go with it striped dresses and matching pants.

And last, but not least, there's the midget size pantsuit by Picoelino. With a double vent in the back of the top and a Napoleon like collar, it's delightful.

Last Summer (now playing) is a subtly symbolic drama that says much about the human condition for those who are willing to ponder it.

The team of Eleanor and Frank Perry have developed and refined a very special technique in making films. They take a simple plot and construct it in a series of vignettes that reveal character and relationships. "Last Summer" is an artistic success — on the level with their film of the year, "The Swimmer."

The film recounts in episodic form the experiences of four teenagers, all of wealthy families, left to fend for themselves by the parents who have brought them to Fire Island for a vacation. The two boys are pals; they strike up an acquaintance with an uninhibited girl whom they meet on the beach and assist her in rescuing a sea gull with a fish hook in its throat.

The threesome is joined by another girl who is slightly prudish and reserved. She comes to act as a "conscience" for the other. After its initial release, "Last Summer" drew an X rating, banning it showing to teenagers. Because that's what it's all about, the objectionable scenes have since been eliminated, and an R rating was awarded in its place.

BROTHERS DIE IN CRASH
An End to $4 Holdup. A $4 armed holdup on Princeton University campus around midnight Friday ended in death for two Princeton brothers two hours later when the car in which they were riding struck a utility pole on U.S. 1, an eighth of a mile from the Quaker Bridge Road. Killed almost instantly were Donald L. Davis, 20, who was found in the front seat by West Windsor police, and James J. Davis, 23, found lying in the back seat. Both employees of campus eating clubs on Prospect Avenue, they resided in an apartment at 240 John Street.

Three others were in the car. The driver was identified as Benny Franklin, 23, of Trenton, who was reported in good condition at Princeton Hospital after receiving a broken left leg and fractured ribs. He has been charged by West Windsor police on two counts of death by auto.

Berry, 17, of Trenton, was admitted to the hospital in serious condition with head and shoulder injuries. Treated for minor injuries and released was Milton Broadway, 25, of Princeton.

The five were believed to have been fleeing from an investigation of University student David H. Shore, 20, under the archway of East Pine near the Student Center.

According to Borough police, who were notified of the hold-up by the University police at 12:13 Saturday morning, Mr. Shore stated that two men were waited up to him in the archway and demanded money. He gave them $4 from his wallet.

"I've Got A Gun." One of his accomplices then asked if he had any more money, adding, "I've got a gun," Mr. Shore said he offered them some change but the two decided to flee. He said he thought he saw a third person standing off to one side but he wasn't sure.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that the five had been seen earlier Friday evening walking on Nassau Street by Sgt. John J. Bellow. When he heard the ambulance call over his police radio, he went to the hospital where he recognized them from the description given by Mr. Shore.

Mr. Shore was also asked to identify all five but Chief McCrohan refused to say whether he had made any positive identifications. He also declined to comment on reports that guns had been found on the bodies of the Borough brothers.

Following the accident, Broadway was charged with concealment of a crime by Sgt. Bellow. He was taken to Mercer County Jail and held in $2,500 bail. No date has been set yet for his preliminary hearing.

Franklin has been charged with holdup and robbery. No charges have been filed against Berry, but Chief McCrohan said Tuesday there possibly may be charges against the juvenile. Police added they have connected only Donald Davis, Franklin and Broadway with the crime.

Just You Wait
It's cold in the morning
And hot at mid-day.
At least it's not raining.
What more can I say?

Remember this summer when you could say with proper frustration, "Well, it hasn't rained since yesterday!" Believe it or not, when Wednesday dawned, it marked the start of a second week without rain.

The Man said he was about to make up for that. Light to moderate rainfall is forecast well into Thursday, with slow clearing thereafter. Considerably cooler weather is scheduled to follow and to prevail through the weekend.

The case is still being investigated by Sgt. Bellow and Ptl. Joseph Wilmetts. "Sgt. Bellow has done an excellent job," commented Chief McCrohan. The accident took place at 145 m. in the south bound lane of U.S. 1. Ptl. Clifford Maurer, handling the traffic investigation for West Windsor, said that the car was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed when it struck the pole.

JOINT PLANNING PASSED
In Township, "Well this is half way," said Mayor John D. Wallace Monday night as Township Committee unanimously passed the joint planning board ordinance.

Public hearing on the identical Borough ordinance will be held Tuesday, October 14 and Mayor Henry S. Patterson said this week that he expects the measure to pass in the Borough also.

If so, the new Borough-Township Regional Planning Board will come to life on November 1. Ordinances provide for a 14-member board; seven Borough and seven Township, with expenses divided on the now classic rateables formula, assigning 67% to the Township and 33% to the Borough.

The idea of paying two thirds of the cost and having only one half the membership was galling to Henry J. Frank, 126 Valley Road, and he presented to Committee a detailed objection to the new board.

The rateables formula is based on taxable property, but Mr. Frank pointed out that the Borough has more tax-exempt property than the Township. In fact, he said, if you total all property, taxable and tax-exempt, the Borough has $110 million to the Township's $103 million.

Mr. Frank estimated that the Borough has two or three times the Township's workday population and although it had a higher dormitory population in the '60 census, it may well have a lower dorm population in 1970.

He also said the continuing existence of two Zoning Boards made it best to have two planning boards also.

He added that in his work on the Traffic Safety Committee, he had not always found the Borough very cooperative.

Another opponent, William Cherry, 21 Dempsey Avenue, said this was the wrong time to give the Borough power advantage over the Township, where the undeveloped land is.

He asked for a one-year postponement so the Borough might ponder the advantages of actual municipal consolidation, he said he was afraid the Borough might never bother to consider consolidation again, if so many joint operations were set up to Borough advantage.

"In reply, Mayor Wallace said 'We have gone too long without closer liaison with the Borough,' and he cited traffic, University relations, housing and the Township's office search zone as areas where closer Borough-Township relations were needed."

"For the Township to postpone action out of pique against the Borough's decision on consolidation would be

Commenting on a Borough official's reference last week to "suburbans," Mayor Wallace retorted, "I think 'urbanites' can plan for Open Space and 'suburbanites' can plan for the center of town."

He explained that, in any decisions, Township Committee and Borough Council would have the final say, anyway.

Committeeman James A. Floyd said he agreed with Mayor Wallace. "We should try to diminish the separation between Borough and Township," he said, "in the few months I've spent on the Township Planning Board, I have seen many reasons for on-going co-operation with the Borough."

Committeeman Harry J. Volwieder joined in: "If we're going to have progress, we must make concessions. This board will knit as closer in the Princeton community."

Committeeman William L. Wilson, who represented the Township in financial talks with the Borough, said many ways of financing the new board were discussed. He and his Borough counterpart, Charles Cornforth, came back to the rateables formula because it has worked successfully in such joint operations as the library, recreation, and fire department, he said.

Questioned about the audience about the board's legal status, attorney Gordon Griffin explained that the ordinance was drawn according to state statutes.

Speaking in support of the measure, Township Planning Board chairman Hans K. Sander said the Borough-Township group that talked over the proposal, recommended a separate Subdivision Subcommittee, staffed primarily by board members from the community involved.

He added that this Borough-Township study group of eight, wasn't at all enthusiastic about having three boards, one Township, one Borough, one joint.

Other supporters were the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, the Middlesex Mercers-Somerset Regional Study Council and the League of Women Voters.

TOWNSHIP WILL SHOVEL Municipal Snow Job. You won't have to shovel snow this winter. (Except, of course, from your front stoop, drive way, patio and dog run.)

Township Committee unanimously passed Monday night the ordinance for purchase of that $7,500 snow-removal machine, plus the ordinance freeing home-owners from the onerous burden of shoveling their own sidewalks.

The new machine is expected to be in the municipality by the time the first flakes fall.

The state is very touchy about highway signs. No one—including a municipal government—is allowed to erect them. But those on Route 206 near Ewing are neither large enough nor numerous enough.

State Department of Transportation officials promised on August 26 to send some body around to look things over, so far, nobody has showed up. Besides, the Township and property owners want a "School Bus Stop Ahead" sign, and the state never puts those up anyway.

Sign Here? Will the state allow the Township itself to erect such a sign, since the state declines to do so? Nobody is sure.

Township attorney Gordon Griffin said, "Why don't we put it up anyway?" pointing out that the state could only say "take it down."

Mr. Griffin then received a dressing down from Henry J. Frank of the Traffic Safety Committee for setting a bad example to the young in advising an action that might be extralegal.

Householders around Ewing had signed a petition to the state asking a speed reduction on Route 206 from 50 m.p.h. to 35 m.p.h. The state made two speed surveys and found that 85% of the cars traveled at 42 m.p.h. the first time and 46 m.p.h. the second, so a reduction to 35 is out.

The state is willing to lower the limit five miles: to 45 m.p.h. When Township officials asked for a 40 m.p.h. compromise, the state said "no."

However, state and municipality do agree that a jug handle is the best solution to the Route 206 problem. The Township is conferring with property-owners about acquiring rights-of-way, and the state has promised—verbally, at least since the formal letter hasn't arrived yet—to design the jug-handle, build and pay for it.

Road Repair. Committee passed a public works ordinance providing for Quaker Bridge Road guard-rails and other work in the list of streets are two new ones: Guyot, off Walnut to Moore, and Birch from John to Witherspoon, will be re-done, included in the original draft, but being by October 15. UP PHILADELPHIA: Ah Princeton Republican candidates have come out in support of Philadelphia as the site for the 1976 Bicentennial. "If Philadelphia should be chosen as the Exposition site," say the Republicans, "Princeton would have a very meaningful role in the Bicentennial because of its historical past." Shown examining the book published by the Philadelphia 1976 Bicentennial Corporation are Borough Council candidates Charles Cornforth and Christine St. John; Mayorally candidate Robert Cawley; Princeton historian Richard Huber; Township Committee candidates Dean Chace and John B. Wallace, er Lane and part of Hillside, will have to wait.

The last stage—Section five of Alexander Street construction is the subject of an application for state road aid. Section Four will be completed next spring according to estimates from acting engineer Joseph Hodak.

Bids Lower. Plagued by high bids and not very many bids at that, the Township found itself back to normal this week with three or four bids for four projects.

Castoro & Co., Inc. was low bidder on three projects: The firm won the Herrington Road extension with $10,153 (Township appropriation: $13,335); the Guyot Avenue widening and walks with $2,982 (appropriation: $3,990) and Alexander Road, Section Four with $18,149 (appropriated: $16,700). The fourth project addition to street lighting went to Pierco, who bid $4,552. The appropriation by Committee is $45,000.

Committeeman Harry J. Volwieder praised the Township's engineering department for eliminating "grey areas" in its specifications, and thereby producing more and lower bids.

$2,500 TO BE SPENT For New Recreation Plan. The Joint Recreation Board voted last week to spend $2,500 for a revised master plan covering future projects on the north side of Route 206 where it owns a total of 70 acres.

The revision will be a thorough one, covering 14 areas, and will take 60 days to complete. It will be done by Planning Associates of West Hempstead, L.I., the firm which drew up the original master plan for the Community Park area five or six years ago.

Some of the planned projects include a golf course, ice rink and lake. Fifty-five of the 70 acres were obtained with Green Acres funds, which means that any facilities erected in this area could not be limited to Princeton residents.

Paddle Courts Underway. Construction has begun on two paddle tennis courts at Community Park which will be located in the area bounded by Route 206, the filter room of the swimming pool and the tennis backboard.

Executive Director R. Donald Barr announced the low bid of the three received was the $14,000 bid by Princeton Master Courts. Completion of the courts is expected in about a month.

Mr. Barr also revealed that he has asked Alfred Steit, assistant principal at Princeton High School, to name a representative group of teenagers that would act as a sounding board for the recreation board.

"We want to know if what we are running are the things they want," he said, "and also suggest things they may want that are not being provided." Board member Mrs. J. J. Mathey will sit in at the meetings to insure that girls' Thursday, September 18, 1969 plexes totaled $67,190 this year, almost $6,000 more than last year's $61,291 and more than $9,000 than 1967's $58,892 — the first year of operation of the pools.

Biggest increases were the $2,320 collected for season permits for an individual child — a new category — at $1,020 increase in income from non-resident family pool permits ($6,240) and increase from $10,929 to $13,932 in daily admission fees — even though the fee for children was cut in half this summer. In addition, concession receipts, under the operation of a new concessionaire, jumped from $270 to $2,325.

"Noting the 67 less family season permits and the 190 increase in individual permits, board chairman Dean V. Chase observed, "This goes to prove, people are looking for bargains."

"I believe we've finally hit the kind of fee schedule this community wants and still make the pool a self-sustaining venture. It seems like a great performance, especially considering the weather we have had this summer," he added with obvious satisfaction.

"I think we've satisfied just about everyone," Mr. Bair agreed. "I haven't heard any complaints." He continued that there had been a definite increase in the usage of the pool and by a wider base of people.

DORMITORIES HAID HIT

By Summer thefts, Princeton University's dormitories, open during the day to construction workers and student visitors this past summer, have been the target of a long list of thefts, according to a report in Monday's edition of The Daily Princetonian.

Among the items discovered to have been taken by students returning to the campus were a television set, stereo, electric typewriter, liquor, money and room furnishings. Students last week, according to the article, reported something stolen from every room in the second entry of 1937 Hall.

H. Walter Dodwell, Director of Security for the University, who oversees a force of 82 campus policemen and 16 reporters, reported that the dorms had been checked every night. But he was quoted as adding "... that didn't make much sense when they were open all day."

"TOWN-GOWN TALKS" Princeton Community Forum to provide the town with a new line of communication to the University was proposed this week by William K. Selden. Mr. Selden, a founder of the Princeton Arts Council, a member of the University's class of 1944, a former college president and a consultant in the field of education, has laid his proposal before Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson and Township Mayor John D. Wallace and discussed it with University officials.

Mr. Selden's Community Forum would have lines out to the new Council of the Princeton University Community and the Council's Committee on Relations with the local Community.

The new community organization, with members appointed by the mayors, would be a forum for broad discussion of issues relating initially to (town-gown) relations and provide a ready means of developing solutions to problems he fore they might create tensions and acrimonious feelings." University policies on employment, housing, construction, rules of conduct for students and the use of recreation facilities, all have a "substantial impact" on the town, Mr. Selden observes.

Turning the coin, he points out that the actions of municipal governments, the general condition of the community (such as the shortage of low income housing) and the quality of municipal services have an impact on the University.

As an example of Forum subjects, he chooses McCarter Theatre, which is subsidized by the University's general budget (the subsidy amounting to about $60,000 in cash, plus about $85,000 in maintenance, overhead, upkeep and salaries, according to Arthur Ludlow, executive director of McCarter).

ter. "Are we making the best possible use of the theatre?" is a question now being asked, he says. "What else should we be doing there?"

It, as Mr. Selden warns, the University decides to reduce or wipe out the subsidy, the repertory program "would be undoubtedly be discontinued" and the town of Princeton would be without a theatre.

Another town-gown dialogue might be held on housing. Mr. Selden suggests. Suppose, instead of building new dormitories, the University and town got together and built modestly-priced apartments where students and townfolk alike could live.

He also points to student conduct as a University problem which affects the town.

Commenting on Mr. Selden's idea, Mayor Patterson (also an alumnus of Princeton) said "I'm in favor of anything that will improve town-gown relations. I am more and more distressed about the lack of give and take with the University and ANYTHING would help."

The mayor, who goes out of office January 1, said he thought the Borough should join with the Township to set up the Forum, but he warned of potholes: how much authority would it have? would it be just another citizens group? would it build up public opinion in favor of something, only to find it had no power to act?

Mayor Wallace, another Princeton graduate, also underlined the importance of relations between the University and the community. He suggested that, instead of working in a separate Forum, townpeople might serve as members of the Council of the Princeton University Community.

SCULPTURE'S ART ON VIEW

At Gallery 100. In a second one-man show at Gallery 100, Arturo Bassols has returned to Princeton for an exhibit extending through October 2. For this new show, he has created some original sculptures, including a turtle with a brass covered WW I helmet for his back, a majestic but anguished seated woman and several of his well-known archbats.

Most of his new sculptures are in welded steel, but he has also for this show created some new work in aluminum and stainless steel. Mr. Bassols has shown in the Arno Gallery in New York, and the Brooklyn Museum among others. His work was last seen at Gallery 100 in 1961.

Along with the sculpture of Mr. Bassols, Gallery 100 is showing the woodcuts of Jacques Hladizovsky. These black and white graphics combine painstaking detail with fluid motion as he portrays sheep, birds, and vast landscapes. Mr. Hladizovsky has just returned from a one-man show at the Lowley Gazelet Gallery in London. He is represented in the permanent collection of the Philadelphia Museum, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and the White House.

LOSES LICENSE 6 MONTHS

For Drunken Driving. In a special session of Borough court Thursday evening, Mrs. Carolyn C. Wilson, 39, of 1079 Stuart Road, was fined $105 and had her license revoked for six months for driving while intoxicated in the Borough. She pleaded not guilty.

In traffic court Monday, Lonnie Scheetz, 19, 15 Leigh Avenue, was fined twice by Judge Theodore T. Tama Jr. He paid $25 for careless driving and $25 for driving without a license.

Robert O. Smyth, 26, Lake Lane, Plainboro, was fined $15 for careless driving. A second charge of being an unlicensed driver was dismissed. Mrs. Emily Weed, 28, 210-C Kirk Street, paid $15 for failure to yield while pulling from a parked position.

Poor Location for Housing.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I expressed my opinion to the members of the Borough Council last May concerning the permanent harm that would result from locating a housing project at Haulfish and Witherspoon. The resulting traffic and noise from the housing project could be a major factor in the urban deterioration of urban Princeton. No experienced planner can prove the contrary.

One essential of a healthy community pattern is open space and limited traffic volume. The Haulfish location violates both of these. I can't believe the local tax free institutions (that have endorsed this project) can ignore the disastrous consequences to the future of "downtown" Princeton inherent in this project location.

O. KLINE FULMER
341 Nassau Street.

Referendum Supported.

To the Editor of Town Topics: In another week the citizens of Princeton Borough and Princeton Township will have the opportunity to vote on the acquisition by the Board of Education of property on Snowdon Lane, suitable for the erection of an elementary school.

We, the Friends of Public Education in Princeton, urge all of our fellow citizens to perform themselves and to vote on this issue that will not be decided by a small minority of the electorate.

We further recommend voting for acquisition of this property. While none of us can pinpoint where and when a new school will be needed, our elementary schools are presently filled to capacity, and current population projections and building plans in the community point toward growth in the geographical area which the site would serve. This property is on the market now and will become unavailable if not acquired immediately.

Of particular importance to taxpayers is the fact that if, in future K-12 planning for the district, this site should not be used, it could undoubtedly be sold and certainly not at a price which would be used to acquire new site.

Used, acquisition now should save tax dollars because the carrying costs on the property would have very little impact on the tax rate.

The pattern of land development and steadily increasing prices in that sector of the Township strongly indicate that any future site acquisition would cost much more, would probably require condemnation and would be less suitable in location and terrain for a school.

We, therefore, urge citizens of Princeton to support this opportunity for good planning and inexpensive insurance.

Your Help Is Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics: A meeting on drug abuse is scheduled for September 25, at the Witherspoon School at 8:30 p.m. The concern about this problem is widespread in Princeton and the meeting will undoubtedly be heavily attended.

The Mayors and Borough Council and Township Committee are to be congratulated for meeting this issue head on and it is our hope that the meeting will be one in which the crucial issue of drug abuse in our community may be approached reasonably and humanely, avoiding unproductive nationalism and emphasis on repression.

The Princeton Interfaith Council urges the Mayors, Council, Committee, and citizens attending to take seriously the dealing view that often drug experimenters themselves are fed up, frightened, and deeply dependent on some drug, and that in this state they want help, and want it desperately; and yet there is very little help readily available to them, no number to call, no acceptable person to turn to.

The Princeton Interfaith Council, while having no preconceived ideas or profit, appeals to the greater Princeton Community to take the opportunity afforded by the September 25th meeting to set an intelligent and responsive direction in dealing with the problems associated with drug abuse, and stands ready to support in any way it can, through Task Forces and constituent religious communities, the best thinking and action of the whole community.

WE DO!

DARKNESS calls for a special type of driving.

Give the driver ahead of you plenty of room. Be alert in watching for his signals. If you tailgate, your headlights (even on low beam) will reflect in his rear view mirror and seriously reduce his ability to see. This increases his chances of getting into trouble — and your chances of getting into trouble right along with him.

Pass with extra care. Remember, you can't see as far ahead at night as in daylight. Use added caution at bridges, narrow lanes and places where the road curves sharply.

Watch out for parked or stopped cars on the roadway either with poor lights or no lights at all. The smart driver will always try to get his disabled car off the roadway and will place flares or lights in the proper position to alert other drivers well in advance.

If you are going 60 m.p.h., it will take you about 366 feet to stop. But at night, your headlights will at best enable you to see only 200 feet ahead. Don't override your headlights.

And never trust your judgment in guessing the speed of an approaching car or truck by its headlights.

Take Care! We Care.

THAT'S RIGHT, ONE'S WRONG!

Here's a test of your safety knowledge: find the ONE WRONG answer in each of the following situations or problems:

1. There are some easy-to-spot symptoms of brake trouble. If you notice any of the following things happening, it's time to have your brake system checked:

- The brake pedal goes down too far.
- Your car pulls to one side when brakes are applied.
- The brake pedal springs back too fast after being depressed.
- The brake pedal feels spongy.

2. A person collapses near you in a public place. Here's what you can do to help:

- See that the person is laid out flat on a bench, floor or whatever else is available
- Turn his head to one side.
- Examine his mouth to make sure his tongue isn't obstructing breathing.
- Give him a drink of cool (not ice cold) water.
- If he regains consciousness, don't let him try to stand up.

3. Your right front and rear wheels slip off the highway onto the low, unpaved shoulder. You should:

- Steer the car entirely onto the shoulder.
- Steer stright ahead.
- Let up on gas.
- Pump brakes lightly.
- When you've slowed down enough, cut wheels sharply toward pavement to drive back onto the pavement.

4. There are several helpful things the first person to arrive at the scene of a traffic accident can do. Here are some of them:

- Always try to drag victims clear of the wreckage.
- Park your own car a safe distance from the accident scene.

- Turn off the ignitions of the wrecked vehicles to prevent fire.
- Guard the scene to prevent further pile-ups
- Send for police and an ambulance.

5. You're sold on safety belts. You fasten yours just as soon as you sit down in the car. For best results:

- Wear the belt snugly over the hip bones.
- Keep the belt loose enough so that it will "give" a little under stress.
- Before buckling up, slide the front seat back as far as you can and still be comfortable behind the wheel.
- If belts are the retractable type, tuck the loose end out of the way so it doesn't become entangled in the steering wheel.

6. Many serious accidents occur at intersections. There would be fewer cross-road crackups if more drivers remembered safety and right-of-way rules such as:

- First in, first through an intersection.
- In case of a tie, yield to the driver on your right.
- Before starting through an intersection, look first to the left and then to the right.
- A yellow light indicates that you have time to enter the intersection and clear it before the cross traffic gets the green.

A Statement To Citizens Of Princeton From The Board Of Education Concerning The September 23 Referendum On School Land Acquisition

The Proposal:

To provide for future school expansion, the Princeton Regional Board of Education is asking the community to authorize it to acquire approximately 24.8 acres of land at the Hall-Hutson property on Snowden Lane, and to issue bonds for that purpose in the principal amount of $226,000. The referendum is only for land acquisition, not for building a school.

The Problem:

The school system must plan not only for its present needs but also for the future, for the next ten or twenty years at least.

The Background:

Long-range planning for the Princeton Regional School System began three years ago. Among the important factors considered were (1) the increasing evidence of educational limitations of certain school buildings, particularly Princeton High School; and (2) the need for school facilities to keep up with population growth.

Two years ago, the Board of Education began meeting with the Princeton Township Planning Board to continue the planning process. At that time, the existing school facilities were noted to be adequate for the immediate future, but the projected population estimate provided by the Kendree and Shepherd Consultants for the Regional School District at saturation was for 8200 students. This would mean an increase from the present 2100 elementary (K-5) students to about 4100 students. It was, therefore, agreed that several areas should be designated on the 1968 Princeton Township planning map as possible future school sites. It seemed prudent to designate these sites on the map before the land was developed or taken for other purposes, even though we could not predict exactly when the new schools would be needed.

The Need:

Within five to ten years Princeton will need a new elementary school

---because the present K-5 facilities are near capacity
K-5 capacity 2300
K-5 enrollment 2100

Conclusion:

PURCHASE OF THE SNOWDEN LANE LAND IS THE MOST
PRUDENT WAY TO PROTECT THE FUTURE INTERESTS OF BOTH TAXPAYERS AND THE SCHOOL SYSTEM

C. Shelby Rooks

Harvey D. Rothberg

---because considerable population growth will occur in the next decade; Princeton is far from "saturation"
K-5 projected population 4100

---because major expansion of present schools, with the exception of Johnson Park, is not practical or desirable.

Changes in zoning and land use can alter school-need projections overnight

---As an example, the proposal of Princeton Community Housing (PCI) for a 200 family middle income housing development in this immediate neighborhood on land currently zoned for research would bring in an estimated 200 elementary school children. This shows how rapidly projections based on present zoning patterns might be modified so as to increase the school population.

The Opportunity:

The Hall-Hutson land is the best available site for future school use.

---It is available because the owners wish to sell it now.

---It is close to the area designated on the Township Master Plan as a future school location.

---It is of adequate size (25 acres) and suitable shape.

---Its nearly flat terrain makes it ideal for a school site.

---It is accessible to public utilities and transportation.

The Timing:

Land costs are rising and property is being developed. If the land is not purchased now, then less desirable land will have to be acquired in the future at higher cost.

The Cost:

Estimated on a 19-year bond issue at 6.3%, the average cost per year will be approximately $19,000 for principal and interest. On a $40,000 house this will cost about $3 per year.

REGISTER IN PERSON

For Adult School Classes

Since time for early registration for the Princeton Adult School has run out, those interested in taking a course must register in person this Thursday, between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m. or 8 and 9:30 p.m. at the Princeton High School cafeteria.

Members of the board of trustees will be present at registration to answer questions and provide aid in obtaining tuition funds for certain school courses where such aid is needed. During the evening, members of the faculty will be present to discuss proper placement and the aims of the different courses offered in the term.

One of the courses offered is "Contemporary Poetry," given by Richard Peterson, assistant professor of English at Princeton. There will be reading and group discussion of selected works by British, Irish and American poets, among them: Larkin, Leavis, Tomlinson, Hughes, Gunn, Lowell, Jones, McMurtry, Clarke, Kinella, Lowell, Duncan, etc. This course is a continuation of several guest appearances by Peterson made at the adult school last fall and spring. The course offered to both new and continuing students is relevant to the social atmosphere of today.

One of the courses in the crafts area is "Pinks, Reds and Creative Concepts." This will be taught by Ann Wiseman, a noted local artist and tapestry maker who works in the collections of David Rockefeller and Joseph Hirschhorn. The text for the course will be Mrs. Wiseman's book, "Rag Tapes, Trues and Wool Muslins," published recently by Van Nostrand Reinhold.

Yinnapao Wang, Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, will give a course in "Chinese Brush Painting," which will demonstrate the basic techniques of this ancient art through lecture, demonstration and actual classroom practice. The second hour of the class will be devoted to student practice with materials which may be purchased from Mr. Wang.

Mrs. Marjory Pratt, author, designer, will once again offer a course entitled "Calligraphy," which will be the study and practice of basic forms used in Roman and Italic lettering and is intended to help anxious participants in improving their handwriting.

A class in "Watercolor Painting" will be offered by George Ann Gillespie, and the list of materials needed will be indicated by the instructor during the evening hours of the open house, September 18. Lessons will include painting still life, flowers, portraiture for beginners and suggestions for landscape painting.

Mrs. Jan Saecker will again give a series entitled "Mixed Media: Drawing and Painting." This course will stress an imaginative approach to the use of varied art and scrap materials involving drawing, painting, collage and different types of printing, for example, monoprint, wood cut and etching.

The "Photography Workshop" will be given by Philip Goodman, graphic arts editor at RCA. Using a still camera in a movie camera, students will be given the opportunity to express themselves creatively through the medium of photography. The course will be for the amateur who has a thorough working knowledge of his camera, and assignments, which will be given two weeks in advance, will stress light, texture, etc. Students may work in black and white or color.

In preparation for next spring's lawn work, there will be a course offered called "General Landscaping." Taught by Hardy K. Petersen, landscape designer and owner at Hardy nurseries, the course will stress composition, plant identification, maintenance of trees, grounds, lawns, shrubs, ferns, fertilizers, etc. in a array of mulches, trimming and Spanish, Russian, history and the attraction of birds to the new, some is from the first three days.

Mrs. Walter Servis, Jr. is the sale chairman, with Mr. John Beck assisting as co-chairman. Mrs. Omar Lloyd is the treasurer for the sale. Donations of articles for sale may be left at the prehouse on Monday, October 6 from 9 a.m. until 5 and on Tuesday from 9 until noon. Pick-ups for furniture and heavy items may be arranged for in advance by calling Mrs. Henry Broad, 924-4636. All clothing should be clean and in fairly good condition.

FAIR PLANNED
By Rocky Hill Group. The Bid 'n Buy Fair, the annual fund raising fair sponsored by the Rocky Hill Community Group, will be held Saturday, October 4, from 10 to 4 at the baseball field on Washington Street in Rocky Hill. The community group sponsors many local projects through the money collected at this fair, the chief project of which is the Rocky Hill Public Library.

The Rocky Hill library serves all of Montgomery Township. The library receives book funds from Somerset County and some funds from the Borough of Rocky Hill, but it is the community group which provides space in the Community Center and furnishes the volunteer staff enabling the area to have library service six days a week rather than the bi-weekly bookmobile.

Mrs. John Mack and Mrs. Charles Anderson, co-chairmen of the library direct a staff of twenty-five volunteers who keep the library open 3:30 to 5, Monday through Friday, 10 to 12, Friday and Saturday, and 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. A story hour is held at the library for pre-school children on Thursday afternoons.

PLANNING THE BID 'N BUY FAIR: Mrs. Donald Freeland, chairman of the Rocky Hill fair, is studying a book on antiques in preparation for the auction to be held October 4 in support of the Rocky Hill Public Library. Shown with her is Anthony Cross, at the Community House on Washington Street in Rocky Hill.

The Bid 'n Buy Fair, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Donald Freeland, features an auction, with Donald Freeland as the auctioneer. Available is a large collection of furniture, many genuine antiques, household appliances, and bric-a-brac. There will also be a number of booths at the event.

STUDENTS TO HELP
In Magazine Fund Drive. Princeton High School students themselves will participate for the first time in the annual scholarship fund magazine drive, which will be held for one week in early October. For more than ten years, the drive has been conducted by the high school PTA and volunteer parents as the chief source of funds for the annual PTA scholarship awards. Despite community solicitation for subscriptions, sales and renewals through the PTA have dropped over the past few years. At the same time the number of students applying for the scholarship has increased. In addition larger scholarships are needed to meet the increased costs of education.

This year each student will be asked to solicit his family and friends with the hope of reaching a larger number of potential subscribers than in the past. Up to 50 per cent of the cost of each new subscription or renewal is retained for scholarship aid. It has been estimated that if everyone in the Princeton area renewed his present subscriptions to three of the leading national magazines through the PTA magazine drive, the fund could realize around $20,000.

TEACHER AIDES NEEDED
At Princeton Middle School. Parents of students at the Princeton Middle School are needed to assist as teacher aides. They are welcome to volunteer for any hours daily, but there is a specific need for help from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1:55 to 2:10 p.m. in both the Valley Road and Community Park buildings. Interested parents are asked to contact Mr. Grove at the Valley Road building.

The executive board for the coming year for the Princeton Middle School PTO are: first vice-president, Mrs. Albert H. Price; second vice-president, Mrs. Richard E. Thompson; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Turner; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frederick E. Blum; and treasurer, John E. Keigler.

SWIM CLUB TO OPEN
At YWCA. Women in the Princeton area who speak little or no English and who would like to learn to swim or perfect their swimming and diving abilities are invited to join the International Swim Club at the YWCA. The program will open Thursday, September 25.

The club is led by Mrs. Sil gurd Waagen, a multi-lingual holder of water safety instructor certification from the Red Cross.

Then ten sessions will meet at the YWCA • pool Thursday mornings from 10:30 to 11:30. Late registration can be arranged.

HUN SCHOOL OPENS
Saturday Classes Ended. The Hun School began its 56th year Tuesday when Dr. Paul H. Chesbro, in his 19th year as headmaster, welcomed the 285 boys and 31 faculty members.

For the first time the school will not have Saturday classes in order to provide students with more time for unstructured activities. A flexible scheduling has also been introduced so more or less time

PJ's to Homemade Pate at Christmas Boutique

Tuesday, November 4 is Election Day this year, but it may also be a good time to begin Christmas Shopping as the sixth annual Christmas Boutique sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital begins its two-day run at the Nassau Inn.

Nine exclusive shops along the eastern seaboard from Vermont to Florida will display gifts, clothes, food, jewelry and toys at the Boutique which will be open both Tuesday and Wednesday November 3 from 10 to 5 with a $1 admission charge.

Leading a list of new shops this year is Lilly Pulitzer, the well known Palm Beach entrepreneur, who began making her brightly colored women's clothes as a hobby before it turned into a highly profitable business. Her collection of casual clothes also includes items for men such as the wild Pulitzer shirts or "PJ's".

Also appearing for the first time will be Crafts by Nan, featuring unusual handbags and handmade pillows, Run on Roulette, a gift and sports clothes shop, Anthony Kim, a custom goldsmith who specializes in contemporary enamel jewelry, and a complete toy shop for children, Wonderland Toys.

Four popular shops in the past will return. Au Bon Gout with its exotic food items and gifts, Leron, bringing fine lingerie and linens,

GOOD YEAR SEEN FOR TIGERS: Joe Cohen (left) picks the Princeton University football team to win all but one this season. He believes the only time the Tigers will stink their pants will be at Harvard. Tom Leonard says if the Tigers can get by Rutgers, they should win them all. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: How many games do you think the Princeton University football team will win this year?

Where asked: Around town.

Joseph Cohen, Bank Street Square, roofer at Pinestone Library addition: I'll say they will win eight. I heard they had a pretty good first scrimmage. I judge they'll beat Rutgers and win their next five. They'll go to Harvard with six straight but by then, Harvard will be waiting for them. Harvard has always been tough and this year they have the home field advantage. Harvard will beat them for their only loss.

Thomas Leonard, Ewing Township, roofer: I haven't heard too much about them but I hope they win them all. I hope they beat Rutgers as a 100th anniversary present. Rutgers is a toss-up. I would say if they get by Rutgers, they might win them all.

Bill Keshar, Foulke Hall, University freshman: I'll gamble and say they'll win eight, lose one. I'm optimistic. I don't follow it too closely but from what little I've picked up, I understand Harvard is pretty good.

Warren Vandermark, Rocky Hill, roofer: I think Rutgers is the key game. If they can get by them, they may go all the way. It will be close. One touchdown either way should decide. From what I read in the papers, they beat Wilkes College six touchdowns to two in a scrimmage and looked pretty good. So I think they can win them all if they beat Rutgers.

Mark DeTurk, Patton Hall, University sophomore: I'm pretty sure Rutgers is going to beat us and maybe some one else, probably Penn. I don't know what Harvard will do, so I'll say 7-2. Rutgers has a real season edge on us in practice and they will be a game ahead when we play them.

Jack Cinkay, Trenton, agent for Adlerman & Clark, Spring Street: I think they'll lose five. I see them beating Columbia, Cornell, Colgate and Harvard. I base this not so much on what I know of the Princeton team but from what I've heard of the others. A lot of team heads for good seasons, especially Penn and Dartmouth. Rutgers, basically, still has the same team back. They'll be hell-raisers. Right there, Princeton loses one game. I think a new coach, a new staff and a new system has to make a difference, but I hope they prove me wrong.

Steve Conner, Laurie-Love Hall, Class of '70: All but one. They'll lose to, probably, either Yale or Harvard. Rutgers might be tough but I think we will beat them. Dropping the single wing will help. Basically, we've always had the talent; the trouble was we were using an antiquated offense. What a treat that is going to be to see us play regular offense! Our class was supposed to have had all the athletes, and I hope all that recruiting won't have been in vain. They haven't done much yet but this year they should be on top.

Robert Bradley, Bank Street, library clerk: I think we'll do well. I think we'll lose two — to Harvard and to Rutgers. The team has good experience coming back. The only problem they might have is adjusting to the switch from the single wing to the T.

Robert O. Smyth, Plainsboro, mover: I think they'll wind up 7-2. They'll lose to Rutgers in the opener and I think they'll lose to Dartmouth. Dartmouth is always tough at the season goes on. They'll lose to Rutgers primarily because of Van Ness. Rutgers also has the same quarterback and they didn't lose too many guys off their offensive and defensive lines. Princeton is shifting in to a new offense and this will be their first game against Rutgers' second. But Princeton's got some good backs and this is why I say they'll win seven. After a while, they've got to jell.

Fred Skipworth, Skillman, student: I think they'll lose to Dartmouth, Yale and maybe Colgate, but I think they'll beat Rutgers in the opener. I haven't heard too much about the team. . . I went to the games last year and they had a lot of underclassmen who have probably improved. I think they'll do a lot better.

Ernest "Ducky" Byard, Trenton, employee, Princeton University: I think they'll have a winning season. I think they'll win the first six and lose the last three to Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth. I got the report from camp and I heard they were looking good. They don't have too many returning lettermen but they have a heck of a big squad and a lot of prospects. Switching to the T will give them more passing and running, it will open the game up. The single wing was great but it had to have perfect blocking. I think the Tigers will surprise a lot of people.

Mike Niese, Princeton Junction, employee of Pink Elephant: I'll say they will win seven. Penn will beat them and so will Rutgers. In the 13 or so games they've played at Rutgers in the last 100 years, Princeton has never won them. It will be interesting to see how this multiple offense works. It might take a couple of seasons to straighten things out.

Russell Shangle, 446 Nassau Street, Campus prector: I predict the Tigers will win the Ivy League this year. They have a terrific sophomore squad coming up, the best class for football in years and I think it will help out. The team they have to beat is Penn and I predict they will. A lot depends on the first game. If they're starting with a new offense, a new coach, new things go right I can see them going undefeated. I have a lot of confidence in Jake. If they get by Rutgers, they may win them all.

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGER LINE A-BUILDING
Only Two Seniors Selected.
The offensive line on Princeton's 1968 football team is the number one problem facing Coach Jake McCandless this season—assumed a definitive shape in the two weeks of training at Blairstown. If the seven men currently holding down starting positions take the field against Rutgers a week from Saturday, they will number only two seniors. The other five are juniors.
The pair of members of the Class of 1970 are holdovers from last fall: guard Mike Guerin, an All-Ivy choice in 1968, and end Mark Biros, a reserve at right end for two seasons but a two-year letterman who has started a number of games during his career and led the team last season in pass receptions with 12.

Biros will be paired at end with junior Jack Hess, one of the top sophomores a year ago and a letter winner at corner back. Depth on the defensive unit has allowed him to be switched to left end on the offensive line.

The two tackles are what Charlie Caldwell called "green peas"—big, promising but inexperienced. The better of the two is 245-lb. John Roeger, the other is Dave Dirks, a 200-pounder who was a top member of his freshman team two years ago and an All-State selection as a sophomore in Colorado.

The only costly injury of the Blairstown portion of the training season has been to senior Bob Schopf. Plagued by knee problems throughout his career, he has been forced to give up the sport. His loss as an offensive tackle increases the difficulty of building an adequate corps of reserves at that vital position.

Guerin will probably have his last year's replacement, 215-lb. Steve Saner, with him at the other guard position. Saner is getting a stiff battle from last season's quarter back, Dan White. The latter is 25 pounds lighter than Saner but his numerous assignments last fall at the blocking back in single wing alignment are standing him in good stead.
The choice at center so far is another varsity holdover, 207-lb. Kirk Liddell. As constituted, the line is not big by contemporary standards but if it shows good mobility, the offense will develop satisfactorily.

Wilkes Beaten in Scrimmage.
The first indication of how Princeton may fare against outside competition came Saturday when the Tigers topped Wilkes College, 6 TDs to 2. The opposition from Pennsylvania has won 29 straight games over the past three years and holds the Lamhart Bowl as the

Princetonian to Play Tailback for Rutgers

It's Bruce Van Ness of Princeton you're locating him geographically, but Bruce Van Ness of Rutgers if you're indicating on which side he will be playing in the college century's a game next week at New Brunswick. The 23-year old resident of Cedar Lane starts at tailback in the Rutgers backfield, and will provide a constant offensive threat with his combined running and passing ability.

Bruce Van Ness

Van Ness was a quarter back in his first year on the Scarlet variety, earning Eastern College Athletic Conference designation as the sophomore of the year. He was the quarter back when Rutgers trimmed Princeton in Palmer Stadium last fall, 20 to 14, but later switched to tailback as Rich Policastro moved into the quarterback slot. The one two punch this pair created on offense was instrumental in helping the Scarlet Knights rip off five straight victories to close the season.

At 6-3, 210, Van Ness runs extremely well and poses an added problem for the defense with his passing ability. Despite a shoulder injury during the summer of his sophomore year, he has a two season total of fence mark of 1,829 yards and 16 touchdowns.

top small college in the east but was outmatched by the bigger and deeper Tigers.

Although McCandless expressed himself as "satisfied" with Saturday's action, he saw much room for improvement in the timing and execution of plays by the backfield. Most concerning of all is the fact that the squad had been involved in contact for only nine minutes, and withstood the com but extremely well. The Tigers' head coach has called this "the best conditioned team with which I have ever been associated."

The multitude of new assignments given the backs to achieve the conversion from the single wing to an offense using much of the T will inevitably require considerable time to assimilate. Add to this the fact that the offensive line is being completely rebuilt and you have the reason for doubt over the ability of the Tigers to handle a veteran Rutgers team on opening day.

Nonetheless, there is such a degree of potential in the starting backfield, plus apparent depth in reserve material, that hope for a successful season is in running strong. Captain Ellen Moore ranks as one of the top Princeton fullbacks of all time, and he will be on the field with three veteran backs all of whom can run and pass. Brian McCullough, Scott MacBearn and Chris Montgomery may eventually form with Moore one of the best backfields in the east.

Veteran linebacker Arnie Holberg, converted to quarterback as a replacement for MacBearn, figures to see com

The list also included a pair of sophomores, John Bjorklund and Doug Blake. Both are underclassmen for McCullough, and both accordingly can run and pass.

PHS FOOTBALL III
(This is the last of three articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for 1969.)

Foremost: Hazy. For the moment and probably right up to the opening kickoff against Hamilton on September 27, a big question mark will have precedence over any assessment of what kind of season the Little Tigers can expect. A lot of pieces are going to have to fall into place in the ten days he has remaining.

No one is more aware of this than Wood. Never to be both in the past in predict a good season when he felt the material. This summer, before the start of practice, he said: "I feel we ought to reach the .500 mark; I'm better than that right now. It's been several years since Wood has been that guarded in his outlook."

Two scrimmages so far, one against Freehold and another against Hunterdon Central Saturday morning, have not given Wood cause to change his outlook. The team was scheduled to play a third and final scrimmage this Wednesday afternoon at Freehold against a second Freehold high school, Freehold Central.

"Against Hunterdon, we did a little better as far as execution," Wood commented. "We ran better offensively and defended better against their running. But both our pass offense and defense left a lot to be desired."

"We've done virtually nothing on it," Wood added, in commenting on the passing. The season passing has been neglected in the early game underclassmen one of the major questions Wood must contend with this season: the coaching staff is spread too thin.

To coach the 55-man varsity squad, Wood has only himself and his new assistant Jim Beachell. Beachell was a standout linebacker in college but he has never coached before, putting even more pressure on Wood. Wood was short-handed when posed to join his staff, decided on the first day of school not to enter the Princeton system.

"We seem to be pretty deep in some positions, and if we had the time to work with these boys we could place them elsewhere but, we just don't have enough coaches," Wood said. To coach four seniors, freshmen, sophomores, junior varsity and varsity, he has a staff of six. In comtrast, Wood pointed out that Hunterdon's staff numbered ten.

Chances are, when Wood turns his attention to it, the passing game may come around. The number one player, Loupin Rossi, is recovering from a broken ankle and is not permitted any contact work. Bob Smiler of the University is handling the physical therapy on Rossi's leg and has told Wood that Rossi may be ready sometime next week.

Two Sharp Passing. Meanwhile, Jeff Grover, a small, but tough sophomore thrower, and Pete Thompson have been splitting the passing duties. Grover's throwing last week was one of the few bright spots in the first scrimmage with Freehold.

With the exception of fullback Lawrence Parker, PHS wasn't able to run against Freehold's 4-3 defense, patterned loosely on the pro's. They defended every play as a running play and had a nine-man line against us," Wood explained.

On offense, the PHS interior line was faulted on its performance by Wood, while, defensively, Beachell was unhappy with the performance of his linebackers, especially on pass defense. Against Hunterdon, Wood reported, there

Tim McCann Makes It
A free agent who signed with the New York Giants last spring has survived the final cut—a feat that has been listed as a 100-to-1 shot.

He, Tim McCann of Princeton, a defensive tackle who was untouched in the NFL draft but reached an agreement with the Giants in May for a bonus that reportedly totaled all of $500. When he went to the New York's camp at Fairfield, Conn., in July, there were 68 players—28 of whom are no longer on the squad.

At 265, McCann has put on 25 pounds since starting his senior year here last fall. He has seen action in all of the Giants' pre-season games as they attempt to sharpen a major weakness, the pass rush.

There were no individual standouts, "although as a squad effort, we did better."

At right end, where Mike Tomlinson was the pre-season starter, Wood announced that John Willard would step into the position. Tomlinson has been sidelined with mononucleosis. Wood added that Willard, a newcomer to PHS last year and ineligible to play, has worked out well both offensively and defensively.

Crucial 10 Days. The ten days between the last scrimmage and the opener with Hamilton is the period in which Wood hopes to be able to hone his squad into combat readiness. "Scrimmages are good in one way," he said, but —Continued on Next Page—

he indicated he would welcome, and need—the 10 free days when he could forego scrimmages and attend to the urgent need to coach and teach. Asked if he thought he could do it all in the short time remaining, he replied: "I hope I can have the kids hungry by the first game."

Schedule A Plus. In one area—scheduling—the ball has taken a Princeton bounce. On paper, the 1969 list of opponents is less rugged than 1968's.

For one thing, there is one less game—eight instead of nine. More to the Little Tigers' advantage is the dropping of Perth Amboy and East Brunswick—two traditionally strong opponents. Both hung defeats on PHS last year.

These, plus Colonia, have been replaced by Cedar Ridge and New Brunswick, certainly not the powers Perth Amboy and East Brunswick represent. Cedar Ridge, said Wood, is a new school in its third year of operation in the same district as Madison Township. He knows little else about them.

Of New Brunswick he commented, "Sometimes they play well and sometimes they don't." He added that the school has a big stadium with lights and that they go in for the sport in a big way.

The team's remaining six games will be against its five traditional county opponents—Hamilton, Ewing, Trenton, Steiner, Notre Dame—and Madison Township. None had coach, Al Verdel, the former an especially glittering season last year, with the exception of Hamilton, which won on but one.

Hamilton has lost heavily through graduation, losing all its offensive starters but quarterback Thad Stockton and running back Phil Hilton, as well as its coach Dave Bryon. But Wood feels that new coach Bill McEvoy will be the recipient of a lot of good material coming up from two feeder junior schools and "Hamilton ought to do a job" this season.

Ewing won five and lost three last year and to try to improve on that mark coach Steve Muench has 16 lettermen returning. They are well distributed between the line and backfield. In addition, Ewing, like Hamilton, has two feeder junior high schools. Wood reported, to keep the talent flowing in.

From a dismal winless season in 1967, Frank Caparo guided Trenton High School to three victories last season. While the Tornado turnaround may not be as dramatic as that of the Mets this year, Wood predicted, "They're definitely going to be much better. They have good material, a good experienced team." PHS just squeaked by Trenton last year, 13-7.

From a team that won only four of nine last year, Steiner coach Pete Brescia welcomes back only seven players. The most outstanding is the fleet Joe Rakowski who scored 12 touchdowns last year. Steiner is rebuilding.

Notre Dame has a new coach, Al Verdel, the former

Jim Beacchell who quarterbacked the 1963 Princeton High School football team has returned to his alma mater as assistant to coach Dick Wood.

A graduate of McPherson College, Kansas, last June where he played linebacker for four years, Beacchell also holds the record in the javelin at McPherson. This summer, competing untached, he became the New Jersey Junior and Senior State AAU champion in the javelin. His best throw is 240 feet.

Beacchell is one of four brothers who have played football for the Little Tigers. The oldest, Joe, Class of 1969, held the record for the javelin at Southern Illinois until it was broken in 1968 by Dan Tindall, another PHS athlete. Tindall owns the PHS record of 232 ft.

Crab Beacchell, Class of 1966, is presently recovering from wounds suffered in Viet Nam at the Fort Detrick Army Hospital in New

Baltimore, who replaced Walt Porter. Verdel is used to winning and those three victories of the Irish last year will be a thing of the past. Verdel has announced he will junk the T in favor of an unbalanced line, single wing attack, which he will use most of the time. PHS employs the same offense and this shapes up as one of the more interesting confrontations for the Little Tigers. Notre Dame plus Verdel equals trouble for the opposition.

Jersey, while the youngest member, Bill, is a senior at the high school and a candidate for quarterback. He will also hold the ball in all extra point attempts.

Things have been even-stev between the Blue and White and Madison Township. In the first two meetings, they split. Last year both met in the finale for each with identical 4-4 record. They battled to a 28-28 tie. "Chances are the score will be as close again this fall. 'They're always good,'" said Wood.

Still, the schedule is far from bone-crunching and if the Little Tigers fall, they can't point to it as an excuse.

In summary, anything can happen this year to the Little Tigers. The challenge has shifted in large measure from the players to the coaching tandem of Wood and Bracheli. The big question that will be answered as the season progresses is how well they have been able to handle the Texas-sized problem of trying to teach a potentially good squad the things it has to learn in two short a time.

PDS ELEVEN PREPARES
For New Season and League.
 New goals, specifically its first winning season, and a new league, the Penn-Jersey, will confront a small but spirited Princeton Day School football team this fall as it enters its third season of varsity competition. When the Panthers first embarked on a full varsity schedule two years ago, the resulting 2-6 record mostly against bigger schools proved disappointing after several years of winning teams. Last year, the squad came within eight points in its final game of producing a 5-3 record, but had to settle for a 4-4 mark. Nonetheless, it was a strong improvement.

This year, after playing the first two as an independent, PDS has joined the Penn-Jersey League. It should find rather well into the level of competition. Happily for coach Dan Barren, the Panthers have played their last game against teams such as Chestnut Hill, which walked them, 28-12, and 40-6, in two seasons, and St. Andrews, which scored 41 points in two years while allowing PDS none.

Schedule No Snap. This is not to say that the new schedule will be a cakewalk. Still to be faced is the Hun School, a perennial power in the league, and new this year is Perkasie, another strong entry. The rest, George School, Academy of New Church (Bryn Athyn), Pennington Prep, and Solebury, should all provide stern tests for the Blue and White. Barren has a slightly smaller squad this year than last, numbering just 21 men, but for the first time a jayvee team has been formed. Graduation losses last year were small in number but included such standouts as Craig Page, Ash by Adams and Keith Bash. And, of course, the same problem which seems to hurt PDS more than any other school — transfers — took one of Barren's best holdovers, Christian Adams, now attending school in Virginia, would undoubtedly have started in a backfield slot, in addition to holding down one of the defensive positions. Even with Adams gone, however, Barren is still able to comment that the backfield is a little stronger and more experienced than last year, and he has enough depth to field two complete backfields.

Heggen Back. Returning at quarterback with a valuable season of experience under his belt is senior co-captain Eric Heggen. Heggen has a good sense of what play to call in each situation, and it relieves me of having to send in plays from the bench.

Backing up Heggen at quarterback will be sophomore Pete McCandless, who will see first string action elsewhere and junior Dave Claghorn, who is also working out at half back. Senior Terry Booth at 5-10, 160 is a hard running full back. Freshman Tony Towns has also shown potential at the position and should develop as the season progresses.

One of the most improved players on the squad is Tom Worthington, a junior, who has the speed and agility to strengthen the backfield at the halfback slot. Another speedster, Kirk Moore, came on strong last year as a freshman during the final games, and should be ready to come into his own this season. Another backfield possibility is Tony Dale who will see action elsewhere at split end.

Turning to the line, which will be handled this year by Chan Jones, who also serves as PDS varsity basketball coach, Barren will use McCandless at tight end, plus juniors Howard Vine and Andy Houston, both of whom have been making steady progress.

Anchoring the interior line are two other senior co-captains, Lew Bowers at guard and Jack Kilgore at center. Both will play both ways. Other guards include senior Bob Peck and sophomore John Kalpin and junior Tim Smith. Tom O'Connor, backing up Kilgore at center, may be moved over to guard also if the situation warrants. Bill Warren, a freshman with plenty of hustle, another candidate for center, may be used to center for points.

At tackle, Barren is counting on senior David Mack, the heaviest player on the squad at 220 and junior Carl Jacobelli, who also will probably play both ways. Steve Zudnak, a 170-pound sophomore and junior Bob van de Velde will also see action at tackle.

Overall Barren reports the squad has shown the best attitude and spirit of any team he has seen there, and he is pleased with the hustle and enthusiasm.

The Panthers will lead off against Montclair at home at 2, Saturday, Sept. 27, instead of with Hun this year. Six Penn-Jersey League games will follow, before the final game with Germantown Friends, which is not in the league this year.

REGISTRATION BOOMS
For Midlet Football. More than 200 potential Bart Starrs, O. J. Simpsons, Don Maynards, and Bubba Smiths have signed up for the Princeton Midlet Football League this season, about 40 more than played last year, and more than triple the figure four years ago.

League officials had expected 175 applicants for the four senior and four junior divisions teams, but the response was so great that the roster limit was upped by another 25. With the addition of Hilton Realty Co. and Buxton's Country Shops, the league has sponsors for all teams. Continuing as backers are Matthews Construction, Nassau Convoy, Princeton Fuel Oil, the University Store, J. P. Cleaver and First National Bank.

Practice sessions under the guidance of three coaches per team are now in progress with the senior division squads drilling Wednesday and Friday evenings, and Saturday mornings at Community Park, and the juniors meeting twice a week.

The senior division will begin play with a doubleheader on Sunday, October 12, at 1 p.m. on the Princeton High School field. Schedules for junior league play will be announced later.

Now in its fourth season, the league, a non-profit organization is supported by contributions from the eight sponsoring companies, parents and other interested groups.

CHAMPION ELIMINATED
to Springdale Golf. Bill Paine, 1968 champion of the Springdale Golf Club, was eliminated last weekend in the second round of play. He was defeated by Jim Blair on the 18th green, 1 up.

In the first round of action, Blair ousted Frank Kierman, 3 and 2, while Paine was trim.

DON'T LET THE SCHOOL BOARD PULL THE WOOL OVER YOUR EYES AGAIN!

They want to spend almost 1/3 of a million of your tax dollars...for land in the wrong section of Princeton...to build a school we may not need at all...as part of a very sketchy "Long Range Plan".

THE BOARD HAS FAILED to produce any recent school population projections to demonstrate need. The last authoritative projection is several years old.

THE BOARD HAS FAILED to explain why, if a new high school is to be built, existing facilities will not satisfy any need for primary or middle grades.

THE BOARD HAS FAILED to justify building a school several years from now in an area already highly developed, near an existing school, when many undeveloped large tracts could accommodate such a project as well or better.

THE BOARD HAS FAILED to mention the costs to taxpayers of street widening, sidewalks, sewers, water, or the impact on the area of this project.

THE BOARD HAS FAILED to convince the Township Planning Board of the wisdom of this site for a school.

SMALL ESTATE . . . on 5.25 wooded acres, with a mountain brook tumbling over boulders on the western boundary of the property, here is a beautiful country home with a facade of pinkish Williamsburg bricks. Completely modernized and renovated only a couple of years ago, the house is spic and span. Huge living-dining room divided by a large stone fireplace, charming powder room, side entry with small front, modern kitchen with breakfast area, self-cleaning electric oven, new range and dishwasher. Den (or family room) off the kitchen. 20 x 21 recreation room downstairs. Upstairs, 5 bedrooms, 2 new tiled baths. Low taxes. Central air conditioning. Large garage with electronic door. $43,500

Grand old shade trees, beautiful landscaping, semi-enclosed terrace. Living room with fireplace, new powder room, sitting room, modern kitchen with screened porch for breakfast. Upstairs, 2 bedrooms, nursery (or den), bath. One of Hopewell Township's most perfect little homes . . . quite dreamy! $37,500

PEACE AND PRIVACY . . . Here's a darling house exactly suited to a romantic couple. Almost hidden behind its trees, this lovely home, as you get a glimpse of its washed brick facade and a rugged shale rock that tells its story of quality and charm. Indoors, there's living room, dining room, den with beamed ceiling, music room, kitchen, and (upstairs) 4 bedrooms, 1 bath. $49,500

FLEVEN ACRES . . . only a short drive from Princeton, here are 11 acres in a very nice, very horse country. There's a big barn, too a very solid structure that needs new siding, but is large enough for a box stall and a tack room. The land is rolling, with many trees and shrubs, but it's not a forest - you can really look over your own acres and enjoy the view. The old farm house has a sun porch and a large paneled living room, a great big modern kitchen, bedroom and bath on the first floor. Upstairs, 2 bedrooms and an apartment which changed back into master bedroom and bath. $53,500

ONLY 10 MINUTES from Princeton, on one-and-a-half beautiful landscaped acres, this long, low, gracious home has a design and a living in the country a real pleasure. GROWING FAMILY . . . Here is a sprawling one-story house on 2 1/2 acres with a real expansion site - plenty of space to add 2 more bedrooms and a bath when it becomes necessary. At present, the house has large (15' x 30') living room, with fireplace, separate dining room, big kitchen (17'9" x 14'), paneled study, a master bedroom 19'x15', two other bedrooms 14'x14', and huge closets with many built-ins. SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE!
The charms of houses built about 1777 would be obvious to those who love them, i.e. 2 walls, deep, deep window sills, wide board floors and massive fireplace. In this case living room is 25 x 13 and family room-dining room combination with fireplace is 24 x 13, with a library for good measure. The 4th dormitory sized bedroom has built in bunks and cupboards aplenty.
Large detached 2 car garage could easily become a studio if you have need for such. The challenges are here too — kitchen could be modernized, bath could be spruced up. Lovely and convenient part of Lawrenceville. $18,000

Conversely none of our youngsters think anyone over 30 is ancient and that thinking carries over to homes sometimes. Some buyers don't want an "old house" and even put 5 year old ones in this category. We'll compromise then and offer — this gleaming white 2 year old Colonial set in the greenery of lovely lawn and towering trees, some of which are outlined in groups of tree form bark lined beds on a beautiful dead street in Longenes. A more convenient 4 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath plan would be hard to find with this fireplace, beamed family room, formal dining room, well equipped kitchen, basement and 2 car garage. $52,500
